In the winter, the rabbits lose their brown fur and grow white fur. White rabbits are hard to see in a snowy field.
In the summer there are lots of brown rabbits. They hop about in the bushes looking for food to eat.

Brown rabbits can hide in and around the bushes. If a rabbit stays still, it is very hard to see it hiding in the brown bushes.