Snow

LEVEL C-11 Weather | Book 3

written by Elfrieda H. Hiebert & Wendy Svec

Snowflakes can fall so slowly that you can catch them on your tongue!

Some snow falls just right for playing.

You can pack it tight.

You can make a snowman!

You need wet and heavy snow to make a snowman.

Snow is made of drops of water in the air.

The drops of water freeze into flakes before they fall to the ground.

No two snowflakes form in the same way.

A heavy snow can take down trees and knock out power lines.

Snow can be light and soft.
But it can fall heavy and fast.
A big snow storm can cover cars and streets.
