

Gray Mule

It is time for a race in the woods.
A cheetah and a horse are at the start line.
A gray mule joins them.

The horse boasts about his speed.
The cheetah boasts that she is even faster.
The gray mule does not say anything.
Mules are not known for their speed.

The race begins.
The cheetah and horse run down the trail.
Soon, they could not be seen.
The gray mule plods along.

After some time, the mule crosses the finish line.
He looks for the cheetah and the horse.

But the cheetah and horse are off the trail.
They were too busy boasting to see the way!
Now, they are lost in the woods.

And the gray mule has won the race!