

The Ways We Communicate

*Fountain Pen.
N^o 68,446.
Sept. 3, 1867*

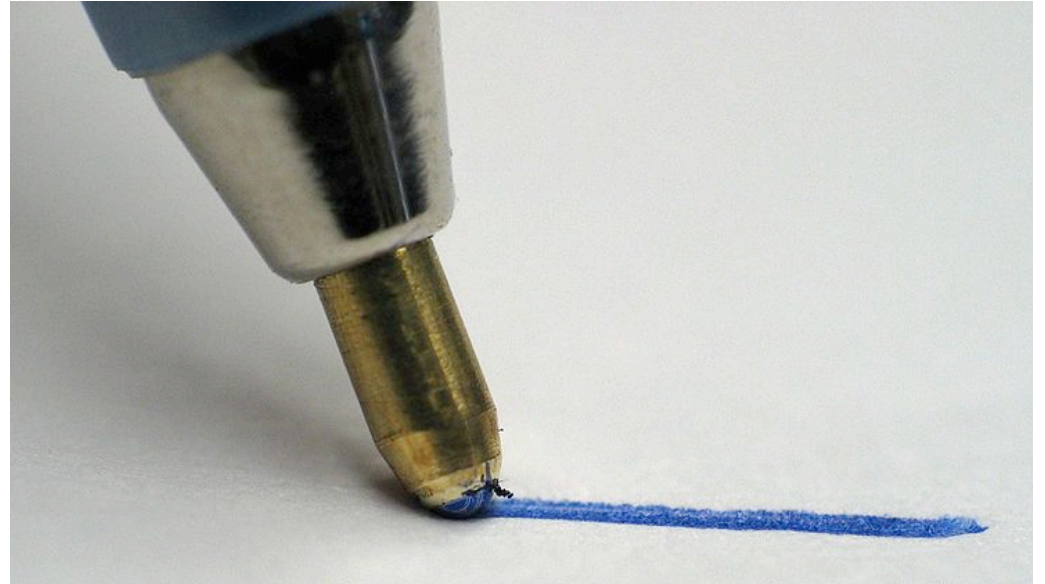

Illustration: Drawing of a fountain pen submitted by M.Klein and Henry W. Wynne as part of their application to patent their design. Released into public domain because the copyright has expired in the United States.

Photo: Postal Clerk cancels the stamp on mail. October, 2009. Photo taken by Photographer's Mate 3rd Class Danny Ewing Jr. Released into public domain by the United States Navy.

Photo: Communicating by headset radio. March, 2002. Taken by Photographer's Mate Airman Sean M. O'Leary. Released into public domain by the United States Navy.

Corresponds to QuickReads Level C, book 3,
History, The Ways We Communicate

Ballpoint Pen

Communicate

Photo: Family communicating via video teleconference. March, 2003. Photo was taken by Photographer's Mate 1st Class Edward G. Martens. Released into public domain by the United States Navy.

Fountain Pen

Photo: Nib of a fountain pen. August, 2005. ©2005 by Ben FrantzDale. Some rights reserved CC-BY-SA-3.0 \(www.creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/\).
Photo: Fountain pen. September 2009. Released into public domain by Ennui in en:wikipedia.

Horseback

A form of transportation in which a person rides a horse.

Example: The Pony Express delivered mail by horseback.

Neighbors

Families or people who live next door or near each other.

Example: After the landslide, all the neighbors helped each other clean up mess.

Photo: Friends and neighbors pitch in to save the belongings of a condominium that was heavily damaged in a landslide resulting from El Nino storms. Laguna Niguel, CA, March, 1998. Released into public domain by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.